You are listed in Phil Currie's Surname Index for the name Hickey. Any tie to Ann Hickey from South Tipperary, described (somewhat sketchily) below?

My gg-grandmother, Ann Hickey, lived in the mid 1800s in Ballyboy in Ballylooby Parish, County Tipperary. (Ballyboy is next to Tubrid, birthplace of Father Geoffrey Keating, author of 17th century "History of Ireland.") Ann was married to Patrick Keating and had several children: Leonard (born 1856) John (b 1868) Mary Keating O'Mara (b 1873), Margaret Keating Clancey, and Joanna Keating Burke. In Ireland the Keating men were blacksmiths. After the death of her husband, Ann emigrated in 1894 and died in the Bronx, NY in 1899.

Len,

I'm wondering if there just might be a connection with your Hickeys. So far I'll be darned if I can find my people over in Ireland, but this is what I know. According to the 1860 census in Milwaukee, my gg-grandmother MARY HICKEY CASSIN was 30, b. about 1830.

Believe it or not, I still can't find where she is buried (I believe somewhere in Chicago). 1st son was born "At Sea" c. 1855, the others born in Milwaukee up until about 1862.

On her youngest daughter's death cert., the mother's birthplace is listed as CLONMEL, TIPPERARY. This information was supplied by the daughter's husband.

I haven't been able to find John and MARY HICKEY Cassin on any passenger list so far. I assumed they came c. 1855, when their child was born "At Sea"; however, just got a voter's registration record from Chicago today that shows her husband being naturalized in Milwaukee in 1855. Back to writing more letters for that one.

The daughter's death cert. says John Cassin was born in Mullinavat, Kilkenny, which borders Tipperary; and I didn't find any marriage record for them on the film for Kilkenny. Haven't had a chance to order a Tipperary film yet.

I do know one other name. WILLIAM HICKEY was living with the family in Milwaukee in 1860. He was 40 at the time, she was 30--possibly a brother? He's listed as working in a foundry.

Mary Hickey's oldest son John lived in Buffalo, NY from the 1880's(?) on and was a lake captain until his death in 1927. Everyone else moved to Chicago.

I had a cursory search done in Ireland for the birthplaces mentioned. Cost me $15 apiece for the two names and an 8 month wait. They didn't come up with a thing, but I really don't think they looked too hard. I found a brother for John Cassin over here, got his nat. papers, year of birth and date of arrival--and they couldn't even find him!

I printed out your note and will keep it in mind. Things are not looking too good for research until after the holidays, but will let you know if I find a connection. If you should come across anything, I'd appreciate hearing.

Dear Carol,
Did not find CASSIN the closest I found was CASSAN. However, here is Hickey.

O'HICKEY (O hIcidhe)
Hickie, Hicky

The O'Hickey (O hIcidhe) family is found serving as hereditary physicians to the O'Briens of Thomand in more more ancient times. The name is likely taken from the gaelic word meaning 'healer'. A Dalcassion sept, historically they are found in Clare, Limerick, Tipperary and in Cork and Dublin in the 1890 birth index.

Spelled as 'Hickey' the name is listed as a principal name of Cork and is also found in Kildare in the census of 1659. Spelled as Hickie the name is listed as a principal one of Co. Clare, also being found in Limerick and Kildare at that time. With the 'O' prefix, as O'Hickie and O'Hicky it is found as a principal name of County Limerick.

Found simply as 'Hicky" the name is given in 1659 as a principal name of Clare, and was also found in Limerick, Tipperary, Waterford, Carlow and Kilkenny. In modern time, the name could have easily changed from one form to the other.

An article entitled the 'The O'Hickeys', by J. Hickey can be found in the N. Munster Antiquarian Society Journal, v. VIII no. 1, 1958.
